THE new series of Love Island is set to be the most X-rated EVER, after sources confirmed they will be showing the couples having SEX!

Petrol pump prices soar to record high

AVERAGE petrol prices have reached a new record high of 173.02p a litre, figures show, after an EU ban on Russian oil imports. Fuel prices have been setting record highs every few days in recent weeks, as the supply of gasoline dries up at a time when demand is starting to gain speed. The increase will hit drivers travelling for the Platinum Jubilee bank holiday weekend, which starts on Thursday. Rising petrol and diesel prices are in part being caused by climbing oil prices. On Monday night, European Union leaders agreed to cut 90% of oil imports from Russia by the end of the year, imposing the bloc's most punishing sanction yet on Moscow since its invasion of neighbouring Ukraine in March.

Labour hits out over airport chaos

MINISTERS have been accused of failing to "step up" as holidaymakers using UK airports suffer flight cancellations and long delays. Shadow financial secretary to the Treasury James Murray said: "We were warning about this, trade unions were warning about this, employee representatives were saying throughout the COVID pandemic 'You need a sector-specific package to support the aviation sector', and now we're seeing what's happened because the government hasn't prepared for what would obviously come next."

CANADA TO BAN HANDGUN SALES

CANADA should introduce a total ban on the buying and selling of all handguns, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau has said. His government is proposing a new law that would freeze private ownership of all short-barrelled firearms. The legislation would not ban the ownership of handguns outright but would make it illegal to buy them. Mr Trudeau's proposal comes days after a shooting at a Texas primary school killed 21 people. The bill, which was presented to Canada's parliament on Monday, makes it impossible to buy, sell, transfer or import handguns anywhere in the country. "Other than using firearms for sport shooting and hunting, there is no reason anyone in Canada should need guns in their everyday lives," Mr Trudeau (right) said. "As we see gun violence continue to rise, it is our duty to keep taking action." The bill would also require rifle magazines to be reconfigured so they can hold no more than five rounds at a time. And it would take away firearms licences from gun owners involved in domestic violence or criminal harassment. Unlike in the US, gun ownership is not enshrined in Canada's constitution, but firearms are still popular, especially in rural parts of the country. Canada already has stricter rules on gun ownership than its southern neighbour and records fewer firearm incidents every year. But there have been calls to tighten gun legislation even further, following a number of shootings. In April 2020, a gunman posing as a cop killed 22 people during a shooting spree in Nova Scotia – the deadliest in Canada's history. Within days, Mr Trudeau announced an immediate ban on 1,500 different kinds of military-grade and assault-style weapons.

Move after Texas school shooting

Government sinks P&O Ferries deal

THE government has cancelled a contract with P&O Ferries after it sacked nearly 800 staff without notice in March. The Home Office said a P&O agreement with UK Border Force would come to an end "with immediate effect". Transport Secretary Grant Shapps tweeted: "We're reforming maritime law to stop firms exploiting legal loopholes and protect workers' rights." The ferry firm replaced its sacked staff with foreign agency workers paid less than the minimum wage. A Home Office spokesperson said: "In response to P&O Ferries' unacceptable behaviour, Border Force has terminated its agreement with P&O to provide contingency travel services to juxtaposed ports with immediate effect." Juxtaposed ports are UK border controls set up in Calais, Dunkirk and some railway stations in France and Belgium, where goods and passengers are checked ahead of travel.

Primark price rises 'regret'

PRIMARK executive John Bason said he "regrets" the fashion firm's decision to raise prices. In April, Primark warned it will increase prices on its autumn and winter collection as costs go up for businesses around the world. The budget fashion chain said it would make "selective" rises in the range. Mr Bason, who is the finance director for Primark's parent company AB Foods, said: "I do regret that we have to put some prices up. "It is a reflection of the scale of the inflation that we're seeing." AB Foods' pre-tax profit rose 131% to £635million in the six months to the start of March, as revenue rose by a quarter to £7.9billion.

Fed-up Boris 'to quit as Tory leader after Jubilee weekend'

BACK ME OR SACK ME: PM is ready to fight rivals

BORIS Johnson will take the biggest gamble of his political career by sensationally QUITTING as Tory boss, sparking a 'back me or sack me' Tory leadership poll. The Prime Minister, who is said to be "fed up" with the drip-drip of criticism from his own benches, will step down as Tory leader on Monday – though remain PM – and then challenge rivals to take him on in a leadership election. When former Cabinet minister Andrea Leadsom became the latest MP to call for him to stand down, the PM reportedly told friends, "Sod this, let's have a leadership election." A Boris loyalist said: "The PM knows that this cannot go on and he is determined to take control of the agenda. So, once the Jubilee weekend is over, he will step down as Tory leader and spark a leadership election, in which he will stand. "It is a straight challenge to his rivals... back me or sack me." Under Cabinet convention, any minister hoping to take on the PM in a contest would have to resign their post before throwing their hat in the ring. Stunt Former PM John Major pulled a similar stunt, quitting as Tory boss on June 22, 1995, and challenging Eurosceptic rebels, who he labelled "bastards", to challenge him for the top job. Major's gamble paid off and he was re-elected leader after only one Tory MP, John Redwood, challenged him. But Major went on to disastrously lose the 1997 general election. In recent days, a steady stream of Tories have backed a ballot to decide the PM's future, or called for Mr Johnson to step down, with three new names surfacing on Monday and a fourth MP resubmitting a letter of no confidence he previously withdrew in light of the Ukraine crisis. Conservative whips are now in talks about how to respond if the letter tally reaches 54, which would force 1922 Committee chairman Sir Graham Brady to call a vote. Former attorney general Jeremy Wright said "partygate" events in Downing Street had caused "real and lasting damage" to the government's authority and he had concluded "with regret" that Mr Johnson should go. And senior Brexiteer Andrea Leadsom said: "The conclusion I have drawn from the Sue Gray report is that there have been unacceptable failings of leadership that cannot be tolerated and are the responsibility of the Prime Minister." By sparking an election himself, it's thought that Boris would seize the initiative and catch plotters off guard. Due to Royal Protocol, he is not able to announce his plans over the long Jubilee weekend but will make his move on Monday.

By COLIN HURST

BOND STAR'S ASTON MARTIN UP FOR AUCTION

SIR Sean Connery's Aston Martin DB5 is expected to fetch up to £1.4million at auction. The family of the James Bond actor, who died in October 2020 aged 90, is selling the 1964 classic car to raise money for a philanthropy fund set up in his name. The DB5, synonymous with the Bond franchise, has been listed as a "once-in-a-lifetime opportunity", as it is the only car personally owned by Sir Sean. The winning bidder will also get a personal drive in the car from former Formula One world champion Sir Jackie Stewart, who was a lifelong friend of the Scottish actor. Sir Sean's son Jason said: "Dad used to talk about owning his own DB5, for no other reason than he loved the car, and I think it did represent something in his life that was unique and captured a moment in time. "He did tell me that driving the movie cars, all laden down with the gadgets, especially the machine guns in the front, made the car really front-heavy and turning at slow speed was a Herculean task, so driving without gadgets was a joy. He loved how well balanced it was. "Dad also said he would have kept the ejector seat. I didn't ask, 'Who for?'"

ATTACK OF THE KILLER... HAMSTERS!

Boffins make cute furry pets into fearsome
PSYCHOS

FRANKENSTEIN boffins have meddled with nature to turn dear hamsters into PSYCHOS!

Thumbing their noses at God, researchers conducted a gene-editing experiment that turned the adorable, furry pets into "aggressive" little monsters.

Scientists at Northwestern University in Illinois used controversial CRISPR technology to remove hormone vasopressin and its receptor, Avpr1a, from a group of the critters, with the expectation it would increase cooperation between the likeable rodents.

Biting

The hypothesis was wrong.

"We were really surprised at the results," H. Elliot Albers, one of the lead researchers in the study, said.

"We anticipated that if we eliminated vasopressin activity, we would reduce both aggression and social communication."

Once gene-spliced, the hamsters exhibited

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

"high levels of aggression towards other same-sex individuals," Albers said, regardless of sexuality or genotype.

Behaviours included chasing, biting and pinning.

Researchers said they chose to work with Syrian hamsters as their social structure is similar to that of humans.

It's feared the research could now be misused by warmakers to breed some kind of hamster super-soldier, or that the discovery could be replicated in bigger rodents such as guinea pigs.

FREED GERBILS MAY CAUSE ECO DISASTER

A WELL-MEANING rodent lover may have caused eco-disaster by freeing 70 GERBILS to mark the Queen's Jubilee.

The anonymous critter fan, from Coleford, Glos, posted about his release on a shadowy gerbil online message board.

The rodent releaser said: "I had too many gerbils, way too many. I couldn't find anyone to take them off my hands."

"When I realised there were exactly seventy of them, I thought I could release them en masse – one for each year the Queen has been on the throne!"

The furry foreigners are native to Asia and North Africa, where they live across different desert regions ranging as far from Egypt to China.

But wildlife expert Jon McGowan warned: "Introducing foreign animals which occupy the same ecological niche as native ones will force them to compete for resources and territory, which can have disastrous consequences for the loser."

"This could spell bad news for mice and voles in the area."

New police chief wants cops to 'boot doors in'

POLICE officers need to be much more visible in their communities and focus on "putting doors in to catch people" in an effort to win back the trust of the public, the new chief inspector of constabulary has said.

Andy Cooke, the former chief constable of Merseyside Police, wants forces to look at their priorities amid concerns that too much time was being spent dealing with mental health issues and truanting children.

He said police should instead be attending every house burglary.

Mr Cooke, 57, said: "At the moment, the focus, in my own personal view, isn't necessarily on some of the right things."

"The neighbourhood officers have got to be seen to be taking action against problems that are there, whether that's through problem-solving, whether that's through putting doors in to catch people."

ELVIS GIRL'S LESBIAN UNDIES ROMP

A NEW biopic of Elvis Presley has attracted let's say "mixed" reviews.

The movie, directed by Baz Luhrmann, premiered at the Cannes Film Festival where it got a 12-minute standing ovation.

Critics have praised actor Austin Butler's portrayal of the died-while-having-a-shit singer.

Online outfit The Wrap said Butler "throws himself into the performance", and Total Film predicted an Oscar nomination.

But Vanity Fair said Butler is "the only thing that works" while IndieWire called the film "deliriously awful".

Tom Hanks plays The King's shifty manager Colonel Tom Parker, while Priscilla is played

by gorgeous Aussie actress Olivia DeJonge.

Another of Olivia's roles got a five-star review. In the 2019 movie Stray Dolls, Olivia shares a steamy LESBIAN smooch with Geetanjali Thapa.

Kissing

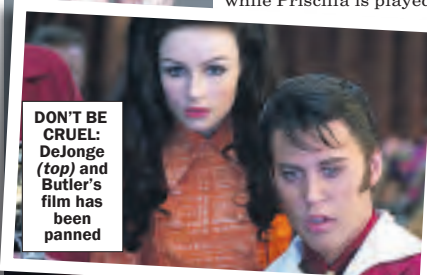

One fan of that movie said: "I don't think I'll watch the Elvis movie. I'm more of a Tommy Steele man myself."

"But I'll have another look at Olivia kissing that lady."

"Ladies kissing - it should have its own Oscar category!"

STRIPPER: I PEELED OFF AT MY BROTHER'S STAG NIGHT!

A STRIPPER has gone viral on social media after claiming she danced naked in front of her own BROTHER at his stag night.

The wild story was relayed by the exotic entertainer - known only as Kendra - when she posted it on TikTok.

"I ended up being the stripper at my brother's bachelor party and I didn't realize until I was completely nak3d," the dancer, whose handle is @kendradollx, wrote in text overlaying the video.

Kendra did not explain where or when the party occurred, but the brunette beauty has previously revealed that she works at a strip club "in the south."

The TikTok in question has since sparked fierce debate, attracting hundreds of commenters apparently sceptical of the entertainer's tawdry tale.

"I would've noticed all my brother's friends and most definitely my brother," wrote one woman.

"Things that never happened: this," as another detractor bluntly put it.

Others leapt to Kendra's defence.

"Do y'all realize how dark it is in those places?" one user snapped back at the social media cynics.

Yet other commenters claimed karma was to blame for the groom-to-be having his sister show up, arguing that he shouldn't have been ogling other women.

"Strippers at bachelor parties is so weird. No shame to strippers but I would never be OK with my man looking at a girl like that," one said.

Kate runs up charts thanks to Netflix hit

KATE Bush has made a return to the charts after her iconic song Running Up That Hill was featured in the new series of Stranger Things.

The pop legend's track was included in the first episode of season four of the hit Netflix show and it has surged up the iTunes chart in the US to number one since the new shows landed on the streaming service on May 27.

Running Up That Hill (A Deal With God) is from Kate's Hounds of Love album and it peaked at number three in the UK in 1985.

It's not the first time Stranger Things has given a song a major boost – series three featured the theme tune to 1984 fantasy film The NeverEnding Story.

The music video for the song by Limahl became a huge hit on YouTube, with bosses revealing searches spiked by 800 percent after the episode featuring it dropped on Netflix.

Unions call for more pupils to get free meals

TEACHING unions have written to the Chancellor and Education Secretary asking for free school meals for all children from families receiving Universal Credit.

Unions claiming to represent one million school staff asked for an "urgent" expansion of the scheme amid the cost-of-living crisis.

It said vulnerable children are facing a "real barrier to learning".

"Every school day we see the benefits free school meals provide. For many it is the only hot, nutritious meal they have in a day," the letter to Rishi Sunak and Nadhim Zahawi said.

"A school meal helps improve concentration and behaviour during lessons. We witness, first-hand, the effect they can have on improving school attendance."

GET set for the RAUNCHIEST series of Love Island EVER, after sources confirmed they will be showing the couples having SEX!

Bosses say that after last year's sex blackout in the villa, cameras can now zoom in on loved-up Islanders playing hide the sausage.

That's bad news for former England striker Michael Owen, 42, because the lineup of dating hopefuls includes his daughter Gemma, 19.

Pleasure

Love Island producers confirmed that while food-eating challenges have been scrapped, sex is still on the menu... and they will assess each moment of pleasure between the Islanders on a case-by-case basis.

Asked if the 2022 series will show sex scenes unlike last year, executive producer Mike Spencer admitted there was no ban in place.

He said: "We don't decide anything in advance. You just don't know until you see the footage."

"If something happens, we are cutting it overnight, so until you see something it is hard to make a judgement and you just have to go with what is right.

By GRACE HOOPER

"The show does get it right, it's suggestive and funny, music is a massive thing, and we will continue to do that."

"But until we see it, it's difficult to tell and it depends on who it is."

An insider added: "Don't get me wrong, you won't see it going in and there are very unlikely to be closeups of spunk erupting from the lads' cocks, showering the girls' firm breasts and pretty faces."

"But make no mistake, it will be very hot stuff. We're going to take it to the wire."

In March, Gemma Owen said her famous dad would be 'unhappy' if she signed up for the dating series, describing him as 'protective'.

She said: "Some of the challenges on Love Island, they're quite out there. I'm not sure I would be able to kiss 10 boys in a row, but I do think it's a great show."

There's a new villa in Majorca as bosses were keen to give the show a 'glow up' ahead of its eighth series.

Street nutter 'set homeless man on fire'

A BRUTE has been charged with attempted murder after allegedly setting a homeless man on fire.

The homeless man, who is 75, was sleeping near Trump Tower in Chicago when Joseph Guardia allegedly poured flammable liquid on him and ignited it.

Guardia (above), 27, has also been charged with aggravated arson with bodily harm.

The homeless man, Joseph Kromelis, is known as the "The Walking Man" and has been walking the streets of Chicago for years.

After the incident, Kromelis was taken to hospital and said to be in critical condition, with 65% of his body having burns.

Ali Simmons, who works with the Law Project of the Chicago Coalition for the Homeless, said Chicago streets are not safe.

"There is violence out here. We need to make sure everyone has somewhere safe to go," Simmons said.

"It's costing people their lives."

A COUPLE were carjacked by a naked drunk.

The man and his wife were sitting in their car at the Apple Bowl sports stadium in Kelowna, British Columbia, when an "intoxicated and unclothed man" hopped into the vehicle through the unlocked boot and "told them to drive".

The frightened couple drove a short distance before jumping out of the car.

The naked stranger got behind the wheel and took off.

Police say he ditched the car about 45 minutes later and ran through a yard before attempting to flag down someone else, possibly with the intent to steal that car too.

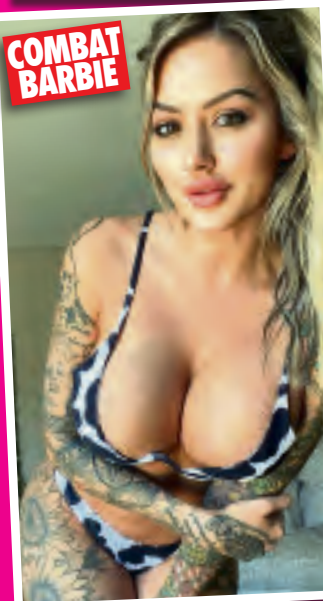

Cops tracked down the suspect, who is now facing several charges, including possession of stolen property.

Life for drug fiend who butchered cartoon artist

By COLIN HURST

news@sundaysport.co.uk

A MAN found guilty for the murder and dismemberment of a former cartoonist who worked on the popular 1980s animated series ThunderCats has dodged the death penalty

James Davis, 56, was convicted for the premeditated first-degree murder of cartoon writer Stephen Perry, 56, in 2010.

Jurors agreed with prosecutors that Davis, a handyman from Zephyrhills, Florida, fatally shot Perry and used a borrowed reciprocating saw to dismember his body.

Perry had been battling bladder cancer at the time of his death. The cartoon and comic book writer had fallen on hard times and allowed Davis and his wife to move into his home to help with bills.

Although a motive behind why Davis planned Perry's murder and scattered his body parts across multiple counties was never clearly identified, prosecutors alleged he was interested in stealing the victim's money and pain relief medications.

On May 26, 2010, just days after the writer was reported missing,

Tampa police found Perry's van abandoned in a car park.

Inside the van were some of Perry's decomposing remains. A few miles away, bloody bed sheets were found in a convenience store slip.

More of Perry's remains were later discovered in various locations across both Pasco and Hillsborough counties.

Davis was arrested on unrelated drug charges on May 21, 2010, and then charged with Perry's murder in July.

Investigators were able to link Davis to two bleach bottles he bought from a local Home Depot.

The jury found Davis should be locked up for life but not executed.

Animal activists sprayed with P00

ANIMAL rights pests were showered with shit after they scaled the roof of a national beef industry event in protest against the meat industry.

The demonstration is said to have resulted in one protester being taken to hospital after chaos unfolded outside Darlington Farmers Auction Mart in County Durham.

Masked activists from the Animal Justice Project stood on the roof of the building holding banners and spraying coloured smoke flares.

An AJP spokesperson said: "We've been sprayed with cow poo by one farmer using a machine."

The National Beef Association, which organises the annual expo, describes it as a celebration of the best of British beef, drawing in at least 5,000 guests.

BANNED FROM INSTAGRAM

CHELSEA HANDLER

THE comedian wanted to mock Vladimir Putin's famous shirtless horseback riding shots, so she staged her own lookalike photo shoot, which got her banned from Instagram. However, Twitter allowed the topless pic to circulate freely.

ANJA RUBIK

INSTAGRAM is notorious for banning images depicting female breasts, and now supermodel Anja Rubik knows all too well.

SCOUT WILLIS

DEMI Moore and Bruce Willis's daughter Scout made her way into the Insta blocked list for posting a snap of a sweatshirt she designed.

The design featured two topless women, so Willis argued the platform's decision to suspend her was sexist.

KENDALL JENNER

MODEL Kendall almost risked an Instagram ban after she ditched her bra for a red-hot display.

The 26-year-old left her fans gasping for air as she showcased her toned figure in a skintight white and blue printed frock before heading to a party in Las Vegas. She later banned herself from Insta, telling celebrity lesbian Ellen DeGeneres that she wanted a break from the site.

MADONNA hit the roof after being banned from going live on Instagram for breaking the app's rules with nude posts.

The star, 63, expressed her outrage after finding she couldn't broadcast live to her 18 million fans for "going against Community Guidelines" on the social media site, with a message reminding users not to "spam" or "post nudity".

Sharing a video of the moment she learned she had been blocked, Madge said: "I've never worn so many clothes in my life," although she has previously had risqué content removed by the app.

She captioned the clip: "Not Us!!!! violation of community guidelines....."

In a video, the Material Girl star questioned if her video posts last month could be to blame, as they featured graphic digital scans of her own vagina, as well as naked depictions of herself giving birth to trees, butterflies, and robotic centipedes.

After saying she was "speechless", she mused: "It's like a bureaucracy inside a computer."

But Madge is not the only celeb to fall foul of the censor. Here are some more....

The site removed the photos due to violations of nudity policies and sent her a warning, informing her they could permanently shut her account down.

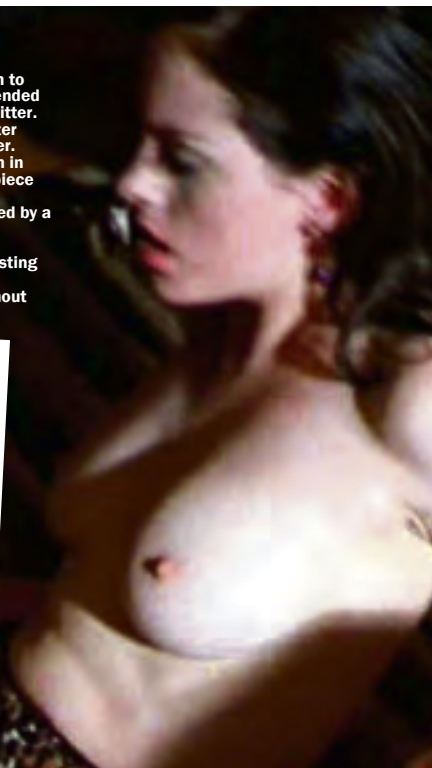

ROSE MCGOWAN

ROSE actually took to Instagram to explain that she had been suspended by another social media site, Twitter.

She was briefly suspended after posting a personal phone number.

And she was banned yet again in April 2021 after posting an art piece depicting a realistic-looking Bill Clinton being sensually massaged by a blonde woman.

Despite it being a work of art, Twitter banned McGowan for posting "privately produced/distributed intimate media of someone without their express consent".

A BREASTFEEDING mum is being hailed a hero after she saved her pet goose from a giant eagle... with her baby still clamped to her tit!

Cait Oakley rushed out of her house in just her underwear while breastfeeding her baby to prevent the eagle taking off with her goose, Frankie.

Cait, from North Saanich, British Columbia, said Frankie "sounded different" so she went to the front door while carrying her breastfeeding baby.

She said: "As soon as I opened the door, the eagle just swooped down. That was the only thing in my head, just like, 'Drop it!'"

Instincts quickly took over as Cait managed to scare off the eagle and rescue Frankie from a nasty injury or possible death.

She said: "It's just that fight-or-flight response. This is mom life."

The bizarre incident was captured on their home security system and was later posted on Frankie's TikTok page.

"If you have urine infection symptoms, please seek advice from your GP or pharmacy."

A TEACHER'S assistant had sex with THREE different lads from the same school.

Monica Sanchez, 21, has been charged with three counts of improper relationship between educator and child, one count of assault causing bodily injury and one count of sexual assault of a child.

Sanchez was a teacher's aide at Kilgore High School in Kilgore, Texas.

According to an arrest affidavit, a Kilgore detective investigated an assault that was reported on May 12.

The detective said he was told that Sanchez was having sexual relationships with 'multiple students' at the high school.

Three students were interviewed by the detective.

Student one admitted to dating and having sex with Sanchez, the affidavit states.

The 18-year-old said he and Sanchez met at the school, exchanged X-rated selfies and had a physical relationship that included full and oral sex.

According to the affidavit, Sanchez admitted to the detective she had a relationship with student one, and confirmed what the teenager had reported, and said it happened five or six times in December 2021 and January 2022.

She also said she had an improper relationship with a second student, an 18-year-old senior, and they had sex at least twice during March 2022.

Finally, the affidavit states that Sanchez told the detective she had a sexual relationship with a third student, who was 15 at the time of the incident, in August or September of 2021.

Sanchez was booked and released on bail.

Kilgore Independent School has confirmed that Sanchez is no longer employed by the district.

Boy, 10, in mass shooting threat

A BOY aged just TEN was arrested for threatening via text messages to pull off a mass shooting.

The child, a student at Patriot Elementary School in Cape Coral, Florida, was handcuffed after making the written threat.

"This student's behaviour is sickening, especially after the recent tragedy in Uvalde, Texas," Lee County Sheriff Carmine Marceno said.

"Making sure our children are safe is paramount."

The sheriff's office's School Threat Enforcement Team was tipped off to the alarming messages and the Youth Services Criminal Investigations Division acted swiftly due to the child's young age.

ROBBER SHOT CRIME PARTNER BY MISTAKE

TWO halfwit robbers have been arrested after one was accidentally shot by the other as they were unloading stolen property from a vehicle.

Artiz Alvarez, 20, and Chanz Lee Yarbrough, 21, both of Los Angeles, targeted four tourists in the city, the Los Angeles Police Department said.

The tourists, all men visiting from northern California, arrived at their Airbnb at 12.45am when three suspects held them up at gunpoint.

One victim was pistol-whipped and the men had £60,000 worth of belongings stolen.

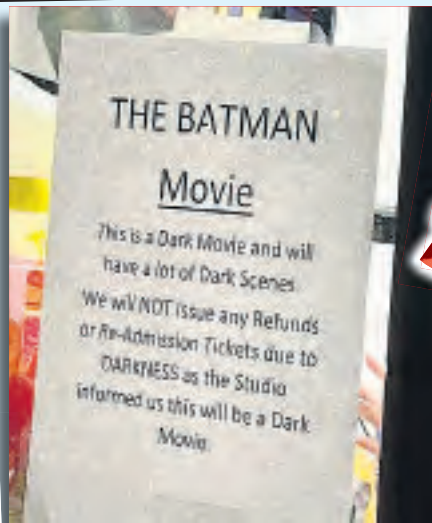

A short time later, Yarbrough went to hospital with a gunshot wound to his left leg.

Alvarez (left) is charged with four counts each of kidnap for robbery and assault with a deadly weapon and one count of being an ex-con with a gun.

Yarbrough is charged with four counts each of kidnap for robbery and assault with a deadly weapon.

Crescent moon forehead tattoo 'nailed killer'

A SUSPECTED serial killer was charged with a seventh murder after witnesses recognised a distinct crescent moon forehead tattoo.

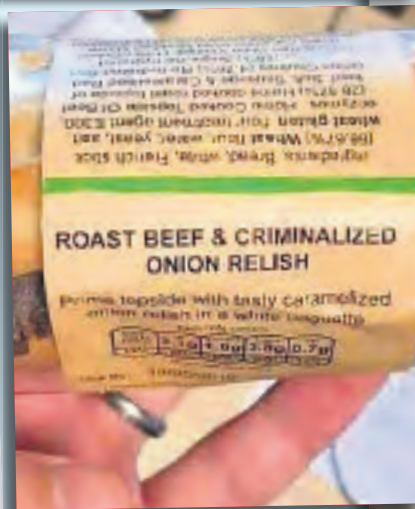

Perez Reed, 26, of St. Louis, Missouri, was already accused in six other killings when he was slapped with the additional first-degree murder charge, the Jackson County Prosecutor's Office said.

He is additionally charged with one count of armed criminal action and two counts of fraud involving a credit or debit device.

The latest charges stem from the fatal shooting in November 2021 of Stephon Johnson, whose body was found stuffed inside a closet in his apartment in midtown Kansas City, Missouri.

He had been shot in the back of the head.

Officials said the bullet in Johnson's head was fired from the gun Reed (above) had on him when he was arrested.

WALK OF SHAME

COPS say seeing a man walking naked from the waist down along a road in Harpenden, Herts, was "extremely unpleasant" for victims who witnessed it.

'SLICE & DICE' KILLERS

WHEN cops turned up at the home of twisted Jonathan Lawrence they found a deranged murder manifesto containing phrases such as "slice and dice", "dissect completely" and "bag up eatable meats". They also found flesh from the leg of one victim in his freezer...

PURE EVIL: Rodgers (far left) and Lawrence planned their vile crime in horrific detail

MANY people have heroes, looking up to sporting legends, movie stars, music icons or authors.

Jonathan Lawrence had idols, too.

But the men he put on a pedestal were America's most heinous serial killers, in particular necrophiliac men like Dennis Nilsen, John Wayne Gacy and Ted Bundy.

These are individuals who not only committed some of the news@sundaysport.co.uk

grisliest murders in history, but who went on to defile the corpses of their victims.

Deviant Lawrence pored over their exploits in his collection of books and decided he wanted to do the same.

He and co-defendant Jeremiah Rodgers, 40, went actively unting for victims just for the sheer thrill of it.

First they casually shot grandad Layton Smitherman as he sat in his front room watching a film with his wife and daughter. He somehow survived.

They then turned their attentions to Lawrence's own cousin, vulnerable Justin Livingston, who was repeatedly stabbed by the deadly duo.

Next came the harrowing slaughter of Jennifer Robinson, aged 18.

This curly-haired student was taken out to an isolated wood, where she was shot in the head before being sexually abused as she lay dying.

Lawrence and Rodgers posed for triumphant Polaroid photos with Jennifer's bloodied corpse, just like trophy hunters standing proudly over their kill.

Sick Lawrence then meticulously butchered her body to claim her "meat".

Freezer

When cops came to his home they found a "joint" of her leg in his freezer along with hand-written notes about how he and Rodgers would "rape her many, many times", "slice and dice", "dissect completely" and "bag up eatable meats".

Both Lawrence and Rodgers now sit on Death Row after they were eventually snared for their crimes.

In 2017 Lawrence – who is in no doubt about the enormity of what he's done – begged the state of Florida to execute him.

In a letter he told a court: "I have had no intention of putting the families, friends and loved ones of the innocent people that I deliberately helped to murder all those years ago through any more pain."

"They deserve justice and every amount of peace my death sentence and conclusion might give them."

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge Paul Rasmussen told Rodgers during his sentencing: "The common theme in the defendants' actions was a plan to kill human beings for reasons known only to them."

"They'd even discussed these random killings two years prior while both were in prison."

Now Jennifer's mum, Diane Robinson, waits for the day when the men who plied her child with drink before killing and mutilating her get their just desserts.

She said: "I now know, even if they're never executed, they'll never hurt anyone else."

"No-one will ever have to feel what all of us have felt."

Lawrence was born and raised in Santa Rosa County, Florida. His nightmarish early years shaped the person he'd later become.

His father, Elbert, has been described as a hard-drinking "rough guy" and "redneck", who was abusive and a bully to Lawrence's mum, Iona, and also sexually abused Lawrence's sister, Laurie.

While Lawrence was a "sickly child", always with a fever, he was described as "relatively normal, laughing and playing with his siblings, eyes sparkling".

But then in 1979 everything changed when Lawrence, aged just four, suffered brain damage in a car wreck.

Reports prepared by Florida State Supreme Court reveal: "When he was four years old, Lawrence injured his head in a car accident that also seriously injured his mother."

"Elbert had forced Iona to drive because he was drunk. She fell asleep at the wheel and slammed into a ditch. Jonathan's head hit the back of the seat in front."

"Iona was hospitalised for three months and was plagued for years thereafter with severe leg damage. Jonathan measurably declined after the accident."

Iona reveals: "Jon was in a dream world. Kind of dense, slow. He was slow to respond, slow to react. I felt like he couldn't understand."

Lawrence didn't know how to deal with the world around him. He developed a twitch and was bullied mercilessly.

Iona recalls finding her son one day "sitting in a ditch, crying" after kids had fired rocks at him with a catapult. In his teenage years Lawrence got in trouble with the law. He failed to hold down any sort of job and was eventually committed to a mental institution after a suicide attempt.

It was in the Florida State Hospital that Lawrence met Rodgers.

His background is equally grim, almost mirroring that of Lawrence's.

Court papers reveal how Rodgers suffered sexual abuse from his own mother, beginning at the age of three and continuing through till he was 14. He was described as being "severely emotionally disturbed".

SICK DUO: Rodgers and Lawrence when arrested

Rodgers attempted suicide five times by the time he was 13. Five years later he attempted "self-castration" in a fit of madness.

With their horrific backgrounds, Lawrence and Rodgers were a match made in hell.

They soon began to conspire together to do something truly awful – and they put their plan into action in the early evening hours of March 29, 1998.

Lawrence and Rodgers had been driving around looking for a target when they spotted Leighton Smitherman in his living room in Pace, Florida.

Poor Leighton had never even met the pair. He was simply in the wrong place at the wrong time.

A handgun bullet fired by Rodgers passed through his front window and entered the base of Leighton's neck. Despite suffering extreme blood loss, he survived.

Rodgers and Lawrence evaded capture and just 11 days later they found a new target.

Lawrence's cousin, Justin Livingston – a troubled teen with a love of marijuana – was led out into a field before being set upon by the pair.

Court papers reveal: "Rodgers told Livingston to look up. He then stabbed him in the chest with a knife he had taken out of the toolbox."

"Rodgers then told Livingston to lay on his stomach so he wouldn't have to look at his face. He then knelt over Livingston and stabbed him in the back at least twice more."

"Rodgers and Lawrence sat there for a while, then walked off before returning to Livingston."

"He was still alive so Rodgers wrapped a flannel shirt around his throat and squeezed it. Lawrence then struck Livingston with a knife a few times in the side."

Justin was buried in a shallow grave nearby.

One month later, Lawrence and Rodgers struck again – this time letting their insane minds run wild.

On May 7 they went to the home of Jennifer Robinson to pick her up for a "date".

The three of them drove in Lawrence's truck to a secluded area in the woods, where Jennifer had sex with both men.

Then, when she least expected it, Jennifer was shot in the back of the head by one of them. It took several minutes for her to die from the gaping wound to her skull.

Before she breathed her last, Lawrence raped her before attempting to "scalp" her with a hunting knife.

Blood-soaked

The evil pair then posed for macabre photos next to tragic Jennifer's blood-soaked body.

And before they buried her, Lawrence took out his blade once more and carefully hacked off a chunk of Jennifer's leg for his freezer.

Court documents state: "She had an incision to her right lower leg in the calf region where a sharp instrument was used to cut down into the muscle and the skin.

"A piece of muscle, possibly human and consistent with the shape and character of the missing calf muscle, was later found in a freezer in the kitchen of Lawrence's home."

Lawrence may have planned his murder meticulously but he didn't count on one thing: the overpowering stench he would have to put up with in his trailer.

In his confession he admitted: "I can't get rid of the smell. It's just a bad smell. It smells like fat, or something."

"I guess when you touch some fat it stays with you a long time."

Detectives soon traced Jennifer's disappearance to Lawrence and Rodgers. Three days after her death they searched Lawrence's home – and there found all the evidence they needed.

As well as Polaroid images of the killers with Jennifer's body, they found the missing piece of her leg and the murder weapon.

They also uncovered Lawrence's lurid notes written by hand.

One, detailing the things they would need, read: "Tarp, coolers of ice for new meat, film for Polaroid cam, rope, two scalpels."

Another outlined their plans for poor Jennifer.

It read: "Resharpen main blade, clean the saw and tomahawk, slice and dice, dissect completely, bag up eatable meats."

It ended with the words: "Bag remains, bury and burn."

Lawrence told officers: "It's kinda like we were planning some real sick thing. We didn't think we'd ever really do it."

"It's just real messed up. It's like I planned to do something, but I didn't think we'd actually do that stuff to her. We just make up stuff like that. Real bad things."

Lawrence was finally sentenced to death on August 15, 2000, while Rodgers pleaded guilty to all charges and was handed his own death penalty three months later.

HUBBY SHOT WIFE DEAD... BECAUSE SHE MADE HIM JUMP!

Victim was a talented ballet dancer

TRAGEDY:
Colleen was killed by hubby
(below)

A BALLET dancer was fatally shot by her "startled" husband.

Colleen Hoopes, 25, was gunned down in the bedroom of her home in Tempe, Arizona.

Her husband, Christopher Hoopes, called cops in the early hours to report the shooting, saying he awoke in a panic and fired twice before realising he had shot his wife.

Colleen, who was shot twice in the chest, was pronounced dead at a hospital less than an hour later.

Christopher Hoopes, 36, is facing charges including second-degree murder.

Accidental

"We are heartbroken to learn of the passing of company dancer Colleen Hoopes," Ballet Arizona tweeted.

Christopher Hoopes told dispatchers the shooting was accidental, Tempe cops said.

"He woke up startled and fired his weapon," Sgt. Hector Encinas said.

Two shots were fired two seconds apart, according to a recording provided to police by a neighbour.

Colleen Hoopes joined Ballet Arizona in 2017 after finishing her professional ballet training at a dance centre in Rochester, New York.

"Colleen was an integral part of the Ballet Arizona and will be missed deeply," the group said.

"She was passionate and dedicated to her art form and a bright light to us all."

Colleen's sister, Michaela Buckley, said: "You could tell how happy she was when she was dancing, that's where she showed her most joy."

"It was really beautiful watching her on stage."

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Let them throw cake!

UNDER ATTACK: Mona Lisa saved by security glass

A DAFT twat disguised as an old woman in a wheelchair suddenly jumps out of his seat.

To the shock of bystanders, he tries to smash the security glass ensuring the Mona Lisa's security.

He fails badly as the glass, designed precisely for the existence of idiots like him, stubbornly holds firm.

So the moron goes all-out revolutionary and, er, bravely smears the glass with some cake instead.

And then, his pièce de résistance (he is French) is to finish off by chucking a few rose petals around.

After security guards finally do the one thing they're actually employed to do, the fool spots a camera on him.

And proudly, in his lipstick and old woman's wig, he minces at the lens.

"Think of the planet," he implores. "There are people who are destroying the planet, think about that..."

"That's why I did it."

And there you have it.

Moron

Another protest designed for maximum publicity.

And another protest that has proved entirely pointless.

After the little moron had made a complete ct of himself on Monday, did it change your attitude towards climate change?

No, nor me.

Like bored, middle-aged geography teachers whose lives were over before they even started, our Louvre ouvre doesn't even slightly matter.

Just like his Anglo cousins who glue themselves to Tube trains.

Or their mates who like to sit on the road cemented to each other.

Or their other mates who like to pull down statues and chuck them into canals.

Or the dickheads who daub paint on people or places they say they don't like, even when they don't know why.

It literally makes no difference to anything at all.

Sure, they get a few headlines – I'm writing about it, after all – but the only consequence for the rest of us is boredom.

It won't stop those who admire the archetypal masterpiece of the Italian Renaissance from admiring it any more.

It won't stop people using the Tube, or their cars.

It won't stop people who've long admired historical figureheads like Winston Churchill continuing to hold him in high esteem.

And the more statues that get vandalised, the more we actually become interested in the people they portray than we ever had before.

In short, these hapless idiots are doing the exact opposite of what they set out to do.

Rather than "wake" people up to their cause, they instead arouse more interest, and support, for the people they hate.

Which is all a bit marvellous, when you think about it.

Leftie immature students have a mass hissy fit and the world yawns.

No one gives a toss, comrades.

Now piss off.

COMIC Andrew Doyle came to the defence of fellow funnyman Ricky Gervais (right) last week.

He was supporting the After Life star's brilliant takedown of the permanently furious pro-trans lobby.

Gervais, he said, was merely being "like the child in Hans Christian Andersen's story, innocently observing that the emperor is naked when everyone else is too cowardly to do so".

Nailed it.

'I love to get all dressed up and be a sex slave'

WITH

I HAVE a real thing for strong men who can throw me around the bedroom... I just love to be dominated!

I always go weak at the knees when I meet a really confident bloke who I know is going to be comfortable bossing me about in bed.

These days, I find men can feel a little nervous taking on a dominant role.

But I very much like to be submissive – I fully consent!

Tie me up, spank me, order me to get down on my knees and serve you... I love it all!

And I love to get dressed up in a skin-tight latex bodysuit with fishnets and be a filthy sex slave.

It makes my fanny flutter just thinking about it!

Now and again I like to mix it up and take the lead, but I feel the most turned on when the guy does.

I'm single at the moment so if anyone fits the bill, please feel free to send in your application. I'm always ready, willing and able...

Mad dad shot at boy found with daughter

A FUMING father tracked down his teenage daughter's location on her mobile phone and shot at the 17-year-old boy he found her with, police said.

Deputies from the Habersham County Sheriff's department in Georgia responded to a report of shots fired in a church car park opposite two schools.

They seized Dustin Vandegrift, 36, as he attempted to flee The Central Alliance Church in a white car.

The teenage boy was taken to hospital in stable condition.

Investigators later determined the boy was not hit by a bullet but suffered injuries from a physical assault and ricochet debris.

Vandegrift (above) is charged with aggravated assault, possession of a firearm during the commission of a crime, simple battery involving family violence, two counts of first-degree cruelty to children, two counts of third-degree cruelty to children and two counts of recklessly causing harm or endangering safety.

No more chiefs is good enough for the Indians

EDUCATION bosses are dropping the word "chief" from all job titles to avoid offending RED INDIANS!

"While there are many opinions on the matter, our leadership team agreed that, given that Native American members of our community have expressed concerns over the use of the title, we are no longer going to use it," Gentle Blythe, of the The San Francisco Unified Schools District, said.

According to SFUSD's website, the district employs 13 officials who have the word "chief" in their titles, including Chief Technology Officer Melissa Dodd, Chief of Staff Jill Hoogendyk and Chief Academic Officer Dr Nicole Priestly.

The school district, which employs 10,000 people, has not decided what to call high-ranking officials in future.

Boffins say economy downturn makes BIG boobs MORE popular

INFLATION, recession and a squeeze on incomes that will make the pips squeak in the coming months.

But when the writing is on the wall for the economy and we're heading for the poor house, there's something that cheers us all up... BIG BOOBS!

And now that's OFFICIAL! Researchers working at the University of West Lancashire department of psychology, alongside boffins at the University of the Danube in Vienna, have found that tough financial times make us long for nice, soft tit pillows.

Comforting

The experts found that in times of recession, men have reacted "significantly more positively" to large breasts.

During downturns in the Seventies, early Eighties, mid-nineties and after the 2008 economic crash, men sought out big boobs.

But in boom times, small, pert breasts are more in vogue.

Prof David LeBeauf, head of psychology at West Lanes and author of KNOCKERS: An Overview of Male Response to Breasts 1945-2015, said: "It's no wonder that in the early Eighties, when Britain was suffering from a recession, Page Three models such as Sam Fox became megastars.

"It is clearly a deep instinctive need to seek out large, comforting breasts when the going gets tough.

"If this recession pans out the way we expect, women with large breasts will be extremely popular, even if they have a face like a bag of spanners."

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY

Dear Ashleigh,

MY hubby's a salesman and he's always telling me that I should be thankful for all he does for me.

So I got a job of my own delivering for a local florist for a bit of pin money.

My first call was the house of a girl getting married and when she answered the door she was in stockings and susses and I felt my minge moisten.

She was in a tizzy as she couldn't zip up her dress and her mum had gone out for some last minute blue garters.

She asked if I wouldn't mind helping her and I couldn't stop myself from feeling her boob.

To my surprise, she in turn slid her hand up my dress and her fingers entered my gushing gash.

The moment didn't last, as her mum got back shouting upstairs she'd got the garters but it was in turquoise, not the blue she wanted.

This was a fortnight ago and I don't know if I should try my luck again.

SA, email

Ashleigh says...

BE careful. You're both married women now.

Dear Ashleigh,

I CAME out of prison a week ago and found my mate had fked off with my girlfriend.

I'm gutted as we'd been together for ages and there was never any inkling of anything being wrong between us.

I'd get visits every week without fail and there were letters almost daily.

I'm so cut up about this as I don't think I can survive on my own.

I was pouring out my feelings to my mother and she only told me to "Grow up an act like a man".

She said it wasn't the end of the world and that I should stop acting like a child.

But best mates don't come along every day, do they?

LC, south London

Ashleigh says...

NO they certainly don't. And yours acted terribly treating you in this way.

How can I get to drill my sexy new dentist?

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE always been afraid of going to the dentist's but now I just can't stay away from the bloody place.

The reason for this is because I've fallen for the new tooth doctor in our local precinct.

She's blonde and curvy, and the moment I set eyes on her I wanted to drill her.

As I sat in the chair she set about my gnashers like she really enjoyed doling out the pain and as I yelped in pain she filled my gob with metal.

I had this idea that in her private time she was a bit of a dominatrix, dressing in PVC and whipping mens' knobs.

Anyway, once it was all over I was off home and yanking one off her wrist.

Since then I've been back complaining of toothache at every opportunity.

The upside is that she brushes her big tits across my face as she delves deep into my cavities.

What makes it worse is I pay for my treatment and it's costing me a fortune.

Am I doing this right?

JT, Exeter

Ashleigh says...

WHY not just ask her out for a drink? If you carry on like this she'll have all your teeth replaced and you won't be able to afford to take her anywhere.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

My work's suffering after bonking mature students

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a geography student and on my university course are a couple of housewives who have signed on as mature students.

One is 40 and blonde with a nice body. The other is 44, has dark hair and enormous tits.

I recently got to spend quite a lot of time with them as we had to do a joint project.

After a hard day in the library, with plenty of not too subtle flirting going on between us all, I invited them back to my flat to continue our work.

We cracked open some beers and were chatting when the blonde who was sitting next to me on the sofa suddenly leaned across and kissed me, unzipped my jeans and started playing with my knob.

Naturally, despite the surprise I soon stiffened up in response to her firm grip and slow but measured wanking of my tool.

The brunette then stripped off her jeans and knickers and and fiddled with her wet fanny while the blonde sucked me off slowly.

It was really only a few minutes she was doing it yet I was just about to come when the blonde stopped sucking, got up and started to enjoy lebo action with the other bird.

My cock was throbbing like hell as they peeled off the rest of their clothes, kissed each other's tits and licked each other out.

Glistening

At this point I got fully undressed myself and stood near them, my cock proudly standing to attention and glistening.

I was straining to have a go at both of them and I managed to enter the blonde from behind as she played with her pal.

I was shafting her nicely when the brunette took my hand and plunged my fingers up her dripping chuff.

It was difficult maintaining a rhythm as I'd never had a threesome before. But I struggled through!

This sexual frenzy lasted through the evening and I lost count of the number of times I managed to bring them to orgasm and the number of times they did the same for me.

They explained that they had both fancied me from the start.

Neither had been willing to make the first move but they had egged each other on so much that they had decided to go for it together.

They enjoyed the night so much that we are now having regular shagging sessions.

But our work is suffering and we have all had warnings.

Any suggestions about how we can manage our time better?

AD, Teesside

Ashleigh says...

YOU should all do your homework before you start your legover-work.

Dear Ashleigh,

Mum and girl romp was a bed-breaker

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE had some of the wildest sexual experiences of my life in the saucy seaside town of Blackpool.

I go to the Lancashire resort every year on my holidays and never fail to get my end away.

Last week I was there with some mates and we ended up at a club for a late booze, when all the other places had closed for the evening.

There were loads of busty women in those glittery 70s wigs and they were all dancing on the tables with their knickers on full view.

They really didn't give a shit what anyone thought, bless 'em!

In the club I copped off with a couple of tasty ladies who I later found out were mother and daughter – which blew my mind a bit at the time.

Well, they didn't really look like a typical mother and daughter – the mum was in pretty good shape, with nice tits and good legs.

I'd put the mum in her early 40s and her fit, big-titted daughter was about 23.

Anyway, we had a few beers together and a really good laugh. The pair of them swore like troopers and were soon headed back to my B&B for wild sex!

The girls stripped off as soon as we got to my room and we were at it for hours. The pair of them were so energetic we broke the bed!

Now the landlord is after me to pay for a new one, and I don't know the girls' address to ask them to ask them to help with the cost. Any suggestions?

IF, email

Ashleigh says...

IT sounds like you had a great night – you might as well pay for the damage, then you can look forward to your trip back there next year!

I HAVE a right terrible dilemma. I lost my job a couple of months ago but I didn't tell the missus.

I was on quite a good wage and so we never went short of anything.

We regularly ate out at weekends but now I'm afraid of what she'll do if she finds out I'm doing "other things".

The money we had saved slowly dwindled into an overdraft so to help matters I advertised my services on a website as a masseur.

It's now paying quite well and the bank are happier now that some money's coming in again.

It's a great job, too. Basically it's getting paid to shag women.

The women are nearly all in their early 40s, quite well off, and either have a busy job with no time for relationships or busy husbands who don't service them.

But last week one of my clients knew who I was and who my wife is.

Now she's threatening to tell all unless I do her sessions for free.

I don't have the time to carry on with her as she wants to see me on a daily basis. What should I do?

MB, Bristol

Ashleigh says...

SURE, you should have told your wife about losing your job. Coming clean now is what you need to do – and give her a good 'massaging' while you're at it!

#HOT'N'HORNY

KINKY Aria Giovanni was born in LA but, as you might have guessed from her name, she has Italian roots. She loves dressing up in sexy PVC outfits, enjoys rough sex, and even likes getting spanked.

The 34FF cracker said: "I really love being submissive and for a guy to boss me about and take control. It's such a massive turn-on."

"Power is such a strong aphrodisiac."

"And I love being spanked on the bottom before the sex act, and having my hair pulled and being bitten lightly when we do it."

"It's so animalistic and an adrenaline rush. I love to experience all sensations!"

SPECIAL OFFER: ANY 3 PRIVATE SHOPS DVDS for £25 (was £75)

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Smallc and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

LENA LOVE

RETIRED bus driver Keith Saunders keeps himself ticking over by ogling boobs-out snaps of Lena Love.

Keith, 67, from Lincoln says that although he's decades older than Brighton belle Lena, it's her perky 32C norks which keep him energised.

He said: "Lena is a real cracker, she's right up my street and she's got a right fine pair."

"I drove buses for more than 40 years - but I'd happily go for one more ride with Lena!"

READY TO REIGN:
Saeed Bin Suroor
has chances today

Swayze to win Notts face-off!

SWAYZE is fancied to go close in the Every Race Live On Racing TV Handicap at Nottingham.

This will be the Showcasing colt's second run for William Muir and Chris Grassick – who have a big assignment on Friday at Epsom with Pyledriver.

The winner of one of his four outings for Martyn Meade, for whom he was tried in smart company at Goodwood, his debut for his new yard came at York's Dante meeting and while ultimately well beaten, there was encouragement to be taken.

Claims

He showed loads of dash in the front rank and was still in there pitching before his 273-day absence took its toll from the furlong pole, although to his credit, he kept at it and was not beaten all that far.

Rather handily, he has been dropped 2lb for that and with that run under his belt, and down in grade, he has real claims on what will be only the sixth start of his career.

Russian Rumour has returned to the Flat in form and there is no reason she should not go well again in the Join Racing TV Now Handicap.

Jonathan Portman's charge has just found one too good over two miles on her last two starts and might find coming back a couple of furlongs here to her advantage.

By MIKE FRANCIS

Although third over track and trip on debut, it would be no surprise to see Sugar Hill Babe overlooked once again by the market in the British Stallion Studs EBF Maiden Fillies' Stakes.

She made some eye-catching headway to make the podium alongside two Royal Ascot-bound fillies on that first start and is more than capable of getting a 'one' next to her name with slight improvement.

Monaadah is an interesting runner in the Unibet Extra Place Offers Every Day Novice Stakes at Kempton.

The Giant's Causeway three-year-old represents a Saeed bin Suroor yard that has some nice horses this year and merits special attention as he runs in the colours of Sheikh Hamdan Al Maktoum.

Bin Suroor's colt won as he liked at Meydan on debut and then rallied in really game fashion to win at Newcastle under a penalty.

There could be more success for Bin Suroor at Ripon where City Walk attempts to back up his Chelmsford success in the Weatherbys Personalised Gifts Handicap.

The Godolphin gelding ran out a commanding two-length winner on the Polytrack in Essex and could have plenty more to give here off a 6lb higher mark.

Albegone can go one better than his second here last time to get on the scoresheet in the Ripon Races Ladies Day 16th June Handicap.

The gaps came at the wrong time for Tim Eateby's four-year-old when a running-on silver medallist most recently, but is now given the chance to correct the record off the same rating.

Earlier on in the Affordable Ownership With Titanium Racing Handicap, Timbukone has the chance to build on his Ayr reappearance now stepped up to a mile.

Hat-trick

Keith Dalgleish's gelding kept on well for second behind a well-treated rival on handicap debut and now has a fine opportunity to break his duck off the same mark of 69.

Iur Cinn Tra scored with a bit in hand when making all at Nottingham last month and the form of that race has an OK look to it.

David O'Meara's charge has been gelded since his outing at Colwick Park and having signed off last season by scoring at Chelmsford, could land a long-awaited hat-trick if continuing his progression.

WE'RE REVVED UP FOR FORMULA ONE

It's Monte Carlo or bust says Mercedes

WOLFF FEARS MONACO GRAND PRIX COULD BE OFF THE GRID

MERCEDES boss Toto Wolff says Monaco should not take its place on the Formula One calendar for granted.

As it stands, Sergio Perez's drive to victory at the weekend will be the last on Monte Carlo's famous streets unless a new deal is agreed.

F1's American owners Liberty Media, and the Automobile Club de Monaco, remain locked in discussions.

It is unlikely the sport's showpiece event will fall off the schedule, but a contract extension is not imminent. Indeed, it could be several months before an agreement is reached.

F1 bosses are understood to be pushing for changes to the two-mile course – which has been largely unchanged since the first race almost a century ago – while there are also question marks over the track's facilities.

Sunday's race was delayed following a power outage after a downpour moments before the start.

Monaco's hosting fee, thought to be in the region of £10million, is under review, while other sticking points – including ACM's control of the global television feed and its insistence that its Grand Prix must take place on the final weekend of May – are also up for discussion.

"I am biased because I live here, I love the city, and what Monaco has to offer is spectacular," said Wolff.

"Formula One is important for Monaco, and Monaco is important for Formula One.

"But it needs a positive approach from both parties.

"Monaco has to embrace the new realities of what Formula One stands for the

and the impact it has on the world.

"Monaco will always be respected within the Formula One community as something that is special and if we didn't race in Monaco, that would be a shame from my perspective as a team owner.

"But no one should take anything for granted." While Perez claimed his first win in Monaco – after Charles Leclerc's dream of finally winning on home soil was scuppered by his flat-footed Ferrari team – Lewis Hamilton started eighth and finished in the same position.

The seven-time world champion lost time scrapping with Alpine's Esteban Ocon and then spent the second half of the race stuck behind double world champion Fernando Alonso.

George Russell finished fifth in the other Mercedes and is 34 points ahead of Hamilton in the standings. Russell has taken the chequered flag ahead of his team-mate at every race, bar the opening Bahrain Grand Prix in March.

"I am sorry I haven't given you any great results this year but I won't give up," said Hamilton, 37, in a post to Instagram.

Wolff added: "Lewis had contact with Esteban and was then stuck behind Fernando.

"The pendulum will swing between Lewis and George and these unlucky situations with Lewis will stop. Both drivers are very much on the same pace."

JONNY: I CAN PASS THE TEST

JONNY Bairstow is thrilled to be part of England's "new journey" at Lord's this week, just days after arriving back from the Indian Premier League.

Bairstow has been on the road for most of the winter and only returned from his stint with Punjab Kings last Monday, just in time to join up ahead of Thursday's first Test against New Zealand.

A well-earned break might have appealed but, with captain Ben Stokes and coach Brendon McCullum kicking off their leadership regime having recently been installed as captain and head coach, there is only one place Bairstow wants to be.

"I don't want a rest. I've never been one for resting when there's opportunities to play for England," he said.

"It is extremely special and that has always been my goal, to play for England as long as I can. Lord's is a fantastic place for us to be to start the new journey, it all begins on Thursday and it should be great fun. It's exciting."

McCullum took training for the first time this week, assisted by long-standing assistants Paul Collingwood and Jon Lewis.

The Kiwi has already had one major influence on English cricket, with the Black Caps side he captained providing the template for Eoin Morgan's World Cup-winning team of 2019.

CRICKET BY GEOFF TRUEMAN

Bairstow was a key player in the white-ball transformation and is looking forward to being part of McCullum's red-ball overhaul.

"Baz is someone I've always wanted to work with. He's someone I've played against and grown up watching and was very intrigued by," he said.

"He's someone I've looked up to in many ways for the way he went about his cricket. I'm really excited about the prospect of hopefully working with him for a long period of time."

"The experience he has got, playing all those games for New Zealand and his coaching experience he's got, he can bring that to the guys."

Doubt

"The brand of cricket we played with the white-ball stuff was really exciting and I'm sure with the way Ben plays red-ball cricket, the way Baz played red and white-ball cricket, I'm sure there'll be things that rub off within the next weeks, months and years."

"There's a lot of positivity around the group, first and foremost."

Ollie Robinson is a major doubt for the first Test after coming down with COVID.

Robinson made a promising start to his England career with 39 wickets at an average of 21.28 in nine Tests but he was plagued by back issues during the winter tours of Australia and the West Indies.

He was withdrawn from a County Select XI to face New Zealand last week because of stiffness in his back.

ITALIAN JOB: Molinari

Molinari an easy Ryder for Stenson

GOLF

EUROPE captain Henrik Stenson has named Italy's Edoardo Molinari as his second vice-captain for the 2023 Ryder Cup in Rome.

Stenson earlier this month selected Thomas Bjorn as one of his assistants.

Molinari was part of the 2010 side that won 14.5-13.5 at Celtic Manor Resort in Wales alongside his younger brother Francesco, who was in the team alongside Stenson the last time Europe won.

Europe handed the trophy back to the US last year after a record 19-9 defeat but Molinari, who will provide statistical support to Sweden's Stenson, is optimistic about their prospects at Marco Simone Golf Club from September 29 next year.

"It is fantastic," Molinari said. "I played the Ryder Cup in 2010 and to be able to be a vice-captain in this one is a dream come true."

"It was a very unexpected call from Henrik. We had chatted a few times about stats and what I could do to help the team, but I never expected this."

"Knowing Henrik, he will leave no stone unturned. He will do everything he can to win the Ryder Cup back. It will be a lot of fun for all the guys playing for him too."

"He has always been a very friendly guy and is always smiling, so I think it will be a fantastic atmosphere in the team room."

In 2010, Molinari, a three-time DP World Tour winner – and his sibling – became the first brothers to compete against the USA since Bernard and Geoffrey Hunt played for Great Britain and Ireland in 1963.

Stenson said: "I'm delighted to welcome Edoardo as a vice-captain. He is into stats and he works with a few of the players who will be on my team."

"I'm very happy to have him on board and I'm very much looking forward to his input and to lean on his experience. With him being Italian, it is going to be an extra special week for him."

CROCKED: Boult

KEY KIWIS FITNESS FIGHT

TRENT Boult and Henry Nicholls are likely to sit out New Zealand's first Test against England despite being named in the tourists' squad.

Both men have been included in the Black Caps' 16-strong group for Thursday's series opener at Lord's, but neither Boult nor Nicholls are expected to feature.

Boult was playing in the Indian Premier League final for Rajasthan Royals on Sunday and is highly unlikely to get the green light to throw himself straight into five days of Test cricket.

Nicholls, meanwhile, has

By ANDY MILLOM

had a disrupted start to the trip due to injury problems and a brush with Covid-19.

Head coach Gary Stead was phlegmatic about Boult's situation, even though it looks set to rob him of a bowler who boasts 54 English wickets at 24.14 in 11 games.

"We'll see how Trent scrubs up but I've had conversations with Trent leading up into this...it's part of the world and the way it is right now with the complexity of putting schedules together," he said.

"When you have the IPL on top of that it just adds another layer to it all."

"We've been through this before with different players so I guess it's not something that's new to us. We'll deal with that and work out what's best for us going forward with Trent."

As for Nicholls, whose middle order slot should go to Daryl Mitchell with Michael Bracewell retained as cover, he added: "At the moment we think it's unlikely that Henry will play."

"COVID just put him back another week or so from where we were wanting, but he is progressing really well."

Stead was able to enjoy a brief chat with his opposite number, fellow Kiwi Brendon McCullum, and admitted it felt unusual to have one of the country's favourite cricketing sons behind enemy lines.

"It already feels strange. I walked across the ground with him before...I think he went into the right dressing room; he turned left and I turned right," he joked.

"I've not thought too much about Brendon and the impact he will have because we are focusing on the way we will play, but I have no doubt he will have an instant impact on the England team and set-up."

Haaland won't be the final big name arriving at the Etihad says chairman

TOP TEAM:
Al Mubarak
and Pep
Guardiola

MANCHESTER City are planning to make more signings this summer, chairman Khalid Al Mubarak has revealed.

The Premier League champions have already secured a deal for the much-coveted Borussia Dortmund striker Erling Haaland and their attack will be further boosted by the arrival of Argentine international Julian Alvarez.

Yet that is unlikely to be the end of the transfer activity ahead of next season with manager Pep Guardiola also looking for additions in other areas.

Speaking in his annual end-of-season interview with the club's website, Khalid said: "I can confirm that there will be more players coming in."

"We are looking to strengthen the team in the areas that we need strengthening, and every season some players leave and we have to continually refresh the team.

By PAUL THOMAS

"I think we've made two very important additions already but I anticipate we will be doing a couple more."

Of the business done so far, Khalid is convinced City have pulled off a coup in securing the services of Haaland.

The prolific 21-year-old will move to the Etihad Stadium for £51million after City saw off interest from other clubs.

Khalid said: "We have, in Haaland, arguably the best number nine in the world at the right age."

"When you look at the next 10-15 years we have invested, in Haaland, in that striker for the future."

"He is a very, very unique, incredibly talented striker that I think the whole world has been looking at."

I would say every big team in the world wanted Haaland to join and we are absolutely delighted Haaland chose to join Manchester City.

"For us, it's a super decision. We are getting, truly, a phenomenal player. He will fit very nicely with the group."

Chapter

Next season will be Guardiola's seventh at City and the last of his current contract.

There has been speculation about the inspirational Spaniard's future but, after negotiating extensions with him in his final year twice previously, Khalid does not see it as a matter of concern.

He said: "It is a partnership that has done wonders over the years."

"It is approaching its seventh year and next year is going to be an exciting chapter of this partnership, and we're enjoying every moment of it."

"We're achieving great things together and this conversation will be had at the right time, at the right pace, and with the pace, time and framework that works for Pep Guardiola."

Khalid added that Guardiola is not under any additional pressure to win the Champions League, which is the one major trophy that has eluded him at City.

He said: "You don't need to put any extra pressure on Pep, he puts enough pressure on himself."

"It is the exact opposite – I try to bring back the pressure because I think he puts too much pressure on himself."

"The pressure is not of winning this competition or that competition. We approach every season to win and

THE CHAMPIONS THIS SUMMER

WORLD'S BEST: Erling Haaland can go to the next level at Man City to try to win every competition we compete in.”

City secured their fourth Premier League title in five seasons this month but “within hours” thoughts turned to next term.

“Our mindset, while celebratory, immediately flips to the future and how to keep strengthening,” Khaldoon said.

Meanwhile, Kevin De Bruyne is not happy about having to play in “competitive” Nations League matches for Belgium this summer.

Change

He is a key man for Belgium as they face three games in the next two weeks.

It’s all the Manchester City ace wants at the end of a long season.

And he thinks the whole idea of the Nations League is a complete waste of time – a view that is shared by Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp who resents losing his players to the tournament.

De Bruyne clearly doesn’t want to be there and would rather be on the beach.

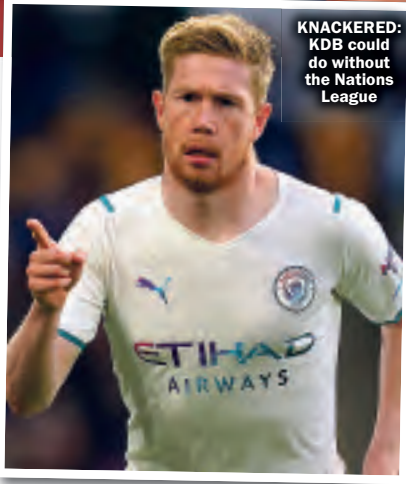

He said: “Two weeks is too long. Well, as a player we can’t change that much. I’m not exactly looking forward to it.”

“The Nations League is unimportant in my eyes. Just glorified friendlies after a long and tough season. I am not looking forward to it.”

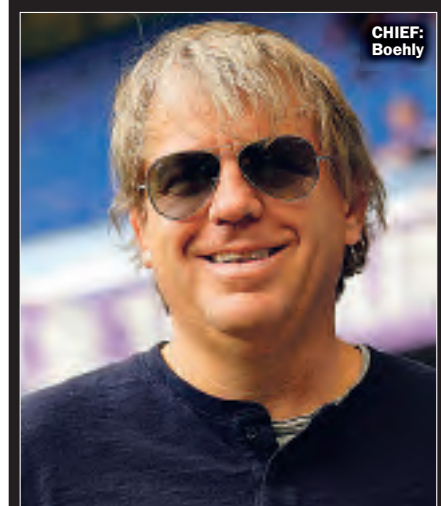

“Anyway, we can say that we want more rest. Nothing changes anyway. Once on the field we will do what we have to do.”

“People from the outside cannot understand how a player feels after a season.”

“That is not necessary. In the end, it’s not going to change.”

CHIEF: Boehly

Todd makes promise to Chelsea fans

By ANDY MILLOM

TODD Boehly says he’s not playing at football and wants to take Chelsea to another level.

The 48-year-old US tycoon’s consortium finally took the Stamford Bridge helm earlier this week, having finalised the record sports franchise purchase from Roman Abramovich for £4.25bn.

Boehly’s consortium fought off 11 serious rivals to become the new Chelsea owners, in a sale process that started on March 2 and comprised more than 250 enquiries.

Los Angeles Dodgers co-owner Boehly will “share joint control and equal governance of the club” with main partner Clearlake Capital investment.

Boehly will serve as chairman of the holding company, backing up his status as controlling owner.

“We are honoured to become the new custodians of Chelsea Football Club,” Boehly said.

“We’re all in – 100 per cent – every minute of every match.”

“Our vision as owners is clear: we want to make the fans proud.”

“Along with our commitment to developing the youth squad and acquiring the best talent, our plan of action is to invest in the club for the long term and build on Chelsea’s remarkable history of success.”

“I personally want to thank ministers and officials in the British Government, and the Premier League, for all their work in making this happen.”

Russian billionaire Abramovich’s 19-year tenure as Chelsea owner is now at an end.

The 55-year-old steered Chelsea to 19 trophies, changing the face of English football forever with his major investment and drive for success.

Abramovich officially put the club up for sale on March 2, amid Russia’s continued invasion of Ukraine.

A Government spokesperson said: “This marks a new chapter for Chelsea Football Club in the best interests of its fans, the club and the wider football community.”

“The club is now no longer subject to the sanctions imposed on Roman Abramovich, an individual who has enabled Putin’s brutal and barbaric invasion of Ukraine.”

“We have begun the process of ensuring the proceeds are used for humanitarian purposes in Ukraine.”

LUKAKU CAN GO

Chelsea flop on his way back to Inter

CHELSEA are bending over backwards to help Inter re-sign Romelu Lukaku.

According to reports in Italy, the Londoners are willing to let the Belgian go back to Italy on a season-long loan.

Then Lukaku's former club Inter could hand over around £50m to make the deal a permanent one.

By JOHN ANTHONY

Given they pocketed a whopping £97m for him just 12 months ago that seems like good business for the Italians.

The 29-year-old is on record as saying he would like to play for Inter again before his career ends. The only potential issue is the amazing £325,000 per week Lukaku reportedly earns at Stamford Bridge.

That is thought to be almost TREBLE what he earned during his first spell at the San Siro.

Earlier this season, Lukaku said: "The way I left Inter, the way I communicated with the fans, this annoys me, because this might not be the right time to say it, but back then it didn't feel like the right moment either.

"Now I think it's right to speak, because I said that I will always have Inter in my heart and I genuinely hope to one day go back to play there."

He has not shone at Chelsea with 15 goals in 44 appearances this season.
